Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from From the Gift of Harold Jefferson College (Class of 1892) Of Boston: For the Purchase of Books Relating to China During the Summer of 1900, when Northern China was in the grip of the Boxers, and horrors were perpetrated which shocked the civilised world, the important town of Kalgan and its immediate vicinity escaped not only from the insurgents, but from the retribution of the foreign army of invasion. Its unique experience was due to the tact and energy of Mr. Shen Tun-ho, an official who had fallen under the displeasure of the Empress Dowager and had been banished to Kalgan in consequence. The circumstances under which he turned what appeared to be an accumulation of misfortunes to the advantage not only of himself, but of his country, are told in the following pages, which may have some interest as showing how the upheaval and its consequences appeared to a Chinese, enlightened by foreign travel and education yet keenly patriotic and anxious to defend his country against unsympathetic attacks. The story of Kalgan and the subsequent arrangement of the terms of indemnity for the Shansi massacres, in the settlement of which Mr. Shen took a prominent part, are prefaced by some of his earlier reminiscences of men and affairs in the Yangtse Valley during the last twenty years. Dates and names have been verified as far as records or other means of corroboration were available and for the form the Recollections have taken the present writer is responsible.
